Total construction funding is more than $15 million. The apartments will be located at 26 different sites in 30 buildings. It incorporates new construction, rehabilitation, adaptive reuse and historic rehabilitation.

Wayne Goodman, Executive Director of the Landmark Society of Western New York pointed out the following in his speech at the ceremony:

"This project is incredibly important not only because it preserves such a wonderful historic building, but because of the combined effects that this has. This is what historic preservation is all about. This allows for injection of investment into a community that greatly needs it. It's job creation. It also fills a community need and it preserves an irreplaceable historic structure and preserves the history of a dynamic and very worthy parish."

Although the housing lottery is closed, those interested in the studio, 1-, 2-, and 3-bedroom apartments, and the 3- and 4-bedroom single-family homes can still apply. Please call 585.328.3228 ext. 1393 for an application.

Saluting our Dedicated Volunteers

Old St. Patrick's Church, Chicago

Chicago's Old St. Patrick's Church youth group returned to Providence communities this summer assisting with outdoor clean-up and hedge trimming at Union Park/ Union Meadows/ Union Meadows II. They painted porches and stained fences at Brown Street/ Near Westside Apartments and Carlson Commons/ Plymouth Manor/ Olean Heights. They also helped prepare Paul Wolk Commons for its ribbon cutting ceremony.

A component of their Worktour week included a discussion of social justice and what affordable housing means, led by Providence's Minch Lewis. A $1,000 donation, from their many pancake breakfasts and other fundraisers, was presented to Providence in recognition of its commitment of providing safe, decent, affordable housing to those in need.

We are grateful that this group of 18 teens and six team leaders dedicated a week of their summer vacation to help Providence improve and maintain its communities.
